6) Beginner Friendly Lady then Cheam 📅 Saturday, October 15th

These two peaks tower over Chilliwack, BC and make an excellent day of scrambling.

<http://www.ubc-voc.com/tripagenda/details.php?tripid=119>

7) Workhike: Cable bridge on the Phelix Creek Trail (Beginner Friendly) 📅 Sat. Oct. 15th - Sun. Oct. 16th

This trip will involve a small group heading up to the Brian Waddington hut to install a cable bridge. This trip is beginner friendly!

<http://www.ubc-voc.com/tripagenda/details.php?tripid=127>

8) Beginner Friendly Locomotive & Face Mountain Scrambling Trip 📅 Sat. Oct. 15th - Sun. Oct. 16th

This beginner friendly trip will make a great introduction to scrambling in the Coast Mountains. Don't forget the camera on this trip.

9) Annual VOC Gearswap! 📅 Wednesday, October 26th

This will be our second annual VOC gearswap, where members can buy, sell, trade, or just give away outdoor gear. We've also invited the largest other local outdoor groups, so there should be plenty of gear floating around. If you've got some gear that never seems to make it out of the closet, start digging it out!

III. This week in the VOC

1) Past trips and events

- The VOC's annual longhike event lived up to its reputation as barely controlled chaos tempered with a little bit of rock climbing. Read all about it here:

-Ron M. wrote a well-illustrated TR for the recent workhike to dig poop holes at the Tenquille Lake Hut: <http://www.ubc-voc.com/phorum5/read.php?3,77283>

-Katherine C. wrote a trip report for the recent workhike to Brew: <http://www.ubc-voc.com/phorum5/read.php?3,76535>

-Gili R. posted a TR of a recent trip to Saxifrage Mt: <http://www.ubc-voc.com/phorum5/read.php?3,77489>

IV. Miscellaneous

1) Rewards and incentives for trip organizers

V. Ms. Manners

Dear Ms. Manners,

Wow - that Longhike sure was quite the trip! In addition to opening my mind to the world or rock climbing it got some other interesting ideas going in my head...

At times the hot tub and dance floor could be fairly... let's say open... with a large amount of love (in a variety of forms) openly expressed - even outside or across clear long-term relationships (perhaps mostly, in fact). Seems like the significant others generally approved or even participated, and everyone was having a good time - especially among the grizzled mountain people. You know what I'm talking about - I noticed you having some fun on the dance floor as well, Ms. Manners.

I like to think of myself as fairly open, and I'm intrigued by this phenomena... but I can't help notice that in some cases the age gap between grizzled old mountain folk and the new crop of attractive young additions might be getting a bit large. What is the standard here? For "regular" two-person relationships everyone is familiar with the Standard Creepiness Rule:  $\text{age\_young} \geq \text{age\_old}/2 + 7$ . But what about polyamorous relationships - is there a similar rule to help us judge when the good fun stops and the creepiness begins? Does it depend on the older or younger age in the pre-existing relationship? Maybe the average? Does it matter if it's strictly platonic? Maybe just one dance? One night? One trip? Long-term trinogamy?

I'm interested, but Perhaps Only a Little Young.

Dear POLY,

Thanks for your question. First off, let me dispel this nonsense about yours truly having "some fun" at Longhike. Longhike is Ms. Manners' most important working weekend of the year, and my only activity for the evening consisted of empirical research for my column. Ms. Manners was sound asleep by midnight, cuddled up only with her Macbook Pro and dreaming about another day of ending the tragedy of self-doubt.

Your question is a bit out of my normal area of expertise (spooning and fart jokes), but as an avid fan of functions of several variables I'll take a stab at it. As you mention, the Standard Creepiness Rule of  $\text{age\_young} \geq \text{age\_old}/2 + 7$  applies only to two party relationships. One early attempt to extend this rule of thumb to larger groups was the via the Aggregate Creepiness Residual (Manners et al, 1972). Let  $a_1, a_2, \dots, a_n$  be the ages of the parties in a polyamorous situation. Then the Aggregate Creepiness Residual is defined as a summation over all older/younger pairs involved:  $\text{ACR} = \sum_{i,j: a_i > a_j} (a_i - a_j)$
